

WPS Exhibit
at the Northern Westchester Hospital Cancer Center
The Healing Power of Gardens
September 13, 2021 (rain date Sept. 20th)

The Healing Power of Gardens is the theme for the new exhibit at the NWH Cancer Center.

This exhibit will be hung on Monday, September 13 with a rain date of Monday, September 20. The drop-off and pick-up will take place outside the main Cancer Center front door and under the overhang. Hence the rain date.

All volunteers are now back in the hospital but Covid restrictions still apply to group gatherings in the hospital. Unless rules change we will not be able to have a reception.

I will be looking for 31 photos to hang. These photos should be framed in black metal frames either size 16 x20 or 20 x24. No black and white or OM photos will be accepted.

Please send by Aug. 31 up to 5 sized 1024 jpg images to firstphotomom@aol.com for jurying. It will be most helpful if you include your title and price for each image in your email.

Suggestions:

Flower Gardens on a broad scale or individual flowers

Wild Flower Gardens

Vegetable Gardens on a broad scale or individual plants

Seaside Gardens, Sculpture Gardens, Backyard, Balcony or Patio Gardens

Gardens of Flowering Trees

Additions within the garden to consider:

Bees, Butterflies, Dragonflies, Gate, Ponds, Small Sculpture, Song Birds

Locations to photograph for blooms:

NY Botanical Gardens for daffodils, iris, peonies, tulips, wild flowers

Pepsico Sculpture Garden for the Japanese iris garden, the pond lilies and lotus

Rockefeller Park for Japanese peonies and wild flowers

Stone Barns for vegetables in the greenhouse or outdoor garden

Stone Crop in Cold Spring for tulips, wildflowers such as trillium, jack in the pulpit

Teatown Lake Reservation's Wildflower Island for pink lady slippers (reservations required)

Look for garden photographs in your files and

Make use of the wonderful summer blooms as you travel out for more photos.

Flowers are everywhere.

Hope to hear from you soon, Lois